IN THE COURT OF SH. NAVEEN KUMAR KASHYAP
ADDITIONAL SESSIONS JUDGE-04: CENTRAL:
TIS HAZARI COURTS: DELHI

BAIL APPLICATION No.: 1650/2020

FIR No.: 295/2020
PS: Lahori Gate
State v. Sanjeet @ China
U/S: 25, 54, 59 Arms Act

02.11.2020

This court is also discharging Bail Roster Duty.

Present: Sh. Pawan Kumar, Ld. Addl. PP for the State through VC.
Sh. R.S. Bind, Ld. counsel for applicants/accused through VC.

Vide this order, regular bail application of accused Sanjeet @ China u/s 439 Cr.PC dated 26.10.2020 filed through his counsel is disposed of.

In nutshell, it is argued on behalf of the accused that he is in JC since 08.10.2020; that his bail application is already rejected by learned MM vide order dated 23.10.2020; that the recovery of arms is planted upon him; that in any case he is no more required for investigation; that there is spread of corona virus including inside the jail; that investigation is already complete qua the accused person and no purpose would be served to keep him in JC; that most of the witnesses are police officials only, as such there is no chance of threatening the witness. That he is granted bail in two other matters alleged against him. As such, it is prayed that he be granted regular bail.

On the other hand, in reply filed by ASI HC Harender as also argued by the learned Addl.PP for the State, it is stated that present accused was found in suspicious circumstances and on search a buttondar knife was recovered from him. That he is involved in two other criminal cases.

I have heard both the sides and gone through the record.

The personal liberty is a priceless treasure for a human being. It is founded on the bed rock of constitutional right and accentuated further on human rights principle. The sanctity of liberty is the fulcrum of any civilized society. Deprivation of liberty of a person has enormous impact on his mind as well as body. Further article 21 Of the Constitution mandates that no person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law. Further India is a signatory to the International Covenant On Civil And Political Rights, 1966 and, therefore, Article 21 of the Constitution has to be understood in the light of the International Covenant On Civil And Political Rights, 1966. Further Presumption of innocence is a human right. Article 21 in view of its expansive meaning not only protects life and liberty, but also envisages a fair procedure. Liberty of a person should not ordinarily be interfered with unless there exist cogent grounds therefor. The fundamental principle of our system of justice is that a person should not be deprived of his liberty except for a distinct breach of law. If there is no substantial risk of the accused fleeing the course of justice, there is no reason why he should be imprisoned during the period of his trial. The basic rule is to release him on bail unless there are circumstances suggesting the possibility of his fleeing from justice or thwarting the course of justice. When bail is refused, it is a restriction on personal liberty of the individual guaranteed by Article 21 of the Constitution.

Further it has been laid down from the earliest time that the object of Bail is to secure the appearance of the accused person at his trial by reasonable amount of Bail. The object of Bail is neither punitive nor preventive. Deprivation of liberty must be considered a punishment unless it can be required to ensure that an accused person will stand his trial when called upon. The courts owe more than verbal respect to the principle that punishment begins after convictions, and that every man is deemed to be innocent until duly tried and duly found guilty. From the earlier times, it was appreciated that detention in custody pending completion of trial could be a cause of great hardship. From time to time, necessity demands that some unconvicted persons should be held in custody pending trial to secure their attendance at the trial, but in such case 'necessity' is the operative test. In this country, it would be quite contrary to the concept of personal liberty enshrined in the constitution that any persons should be punished in respect of any matter, upon which, he has not been convicted or that in any circumstances, he should be deprived of his liberty under Article 21 of the Constitution upon only the belief that he will tamper with the witnesses if left at liberty, save in the most extraordinary circumstances. Apart from the question of prevention being the object of a refusal of bail, one must not lose sight of the fact that any imprisonment before conviction has a substantial punitive content and it would be improper for any court to refuse bail as mark of disapproval of former conduct whether the accused has been convicted for it or not or to refuse bail to an unconvicted person for the purpose of giving him a taste of imprisonment as a lesson. While considering an application for bail either under Section 437 or 439 CrPC, the court should keep in view the principle that grant of bail is the rule and committal to jail an exception. Refusal of bail is a restriction on personal liberty of the individual guaranteed by Article 21 of the Constitution. Seriousness of the offence not to be treated as the only consideration in refusing bail : Seriousness of the offence should not to be treated as the only ground for refusal of bail. (Judgment of Sanjay Chandra Vs. Central Bureau of Investigation, AIR 2012 SC 830 relied).

But, the liberty of an individual is not absolute. The Society by its collective wisdom through process of law can withdraw the liberty that it has sanctioned to an individual when an individual becomes a danger to the societal order. A society expects responsibility and accountability from the member, and it desires that the citizens should obey the law, respecting it as a cherished social norm. Therefore, when an individual behaves in a disharmonious manner ushering in disorderly thing which the society disapproves, the legal consequences are bound to follow.

Further discretionary jurisdiction of courts u/s 437 and 439 CrPC should be exercised carefully and cautiously by balancing the rights of the accused and interests of the society. Court must indicate brief reasons for granting or refusing bail. Bail order passed by the court must be reasoned one but detailed reasons touching merits of the case, detailed examination of evidence and elaborate documentation of merits of case should not be done.

At this stage , it can also be fruitful to note that requirements for bail u/s 437 & 439 are different. Section 437 Cr.P.C. severally curtails the power of the Magistrate to grant bail in context of the commission of non-bailable offences punishable with death or imprisonment for life, the two higher Courts have only the procedural requirement of giving notice of the Bail application to the Public Prosecutor, which requirement is also ignorable if circumstances so demand. The regimes regulating the powers of the Magistrate on the one hand and the two superior Courts are decidedly and intentionally not identical, but vitally and drastically dissimilar. (Sundeep Kumar Bafna Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2014 SC 1745).

Further at this stage it can be noted that interpreting the provisions of bail contained u/s 437 & 439 Cr.P.C., the Hon'ble Supreme Court in its various judgments has laid down various considerations for grant or refusal of bail to an accused in a non-bailable offence like, (i) Whether there is any prima facie or reasonable ground to believe that the accused had committed the offence; (ii) Nature of accusation and evidence therefor, (iii) Gravity of the offence and punishment which the conviction will entail, (iv) Reasonable possibility of securing presence of the accused at trial and danger of his absconding or fleeing if released on bail, (v) Character and behavior of the accused, (vi) Means, position and standing of the accused in the Society, (vii) Likelihood of the offence being repeated, (viii) Reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with, (ix) Danger, of course, of justice being thwarted by grant of bail, (x) Balance between the rights of the accused and the larger interest of the Society/State, (xi) Any other factor relevant and peculiar to the accused. (xii) While a vague allegation that the accused may tamper with the evidence or witnesses may not be a ground to refuse bail, but if the accused is of such character that his mere presence at large would intimidate the witnesses or if there is material to show that he will use his liberty to subvert justice or tamper with the evidence, then bail will be refused. Furthermore, in the landmark judgment of Gurucharan Singh and others v. State (AIR 1978 SC 179), it was held that there is no hard and fast rule and no inflexible principle governing the exercise of such discretion by the courts. It was further held that there cannot be any inexorable formula in the matter of granting bail. It was further held that facts and circumstances of each case will govern the exercise of judicial discretion in granting or refusing bail. It was further held that such question depends upon a variety of circumstances, cumulative effect of which must enter into the judicial verdict. Such judgment itself mentioned the nature and seriousness of nature, and circumstances in which offences are committed apart from character of evidence as some of the relevant factors in deciding whether to grant bail or not.

Further it may also be noted that it is also settled law that while disposing of bail applications u/s 437/439 Cr.P.C., courts should assign reasons while allowing or refusing an application for bail. But detailed reasons touching the merit of the matter should not be given which may prejudice the accused. What is necessary is that the order should not suffer from non-application of mind. At this stage a detailed examination of evidence and elaborate documentation of the merit of the case is not required to be undertaken. Though the court can make some reference to materials but it cannot make a detailed and in-depth analysis of the materials and record findings on their acceptability or otherwise which is essentially a matter of trial. Court is not required to undertake meticulous examination of evidence while granting or refusing bail u/s

439 of the CrPC.

In the present case, the maximum punishment of the offences alleged against the present accused is less than 7 years. It is a matter of record that accused were arrested on 08.10.2020. As such, it can be noted that even the period to seek police custody remand is now over. Further, both the accused are in JC. Further, it is a time tested basic law that such disclosure statement given to police is having no legal value except as saved u/s 27 of Indian Evidence Act, which is not the case at present that anything is covered / recovered as a result of such disclosure statements. It may be noted that as per the story of the prosecution Arms / case property were already recovered before even making such disclosure statement. Be that as it may, as far as present accused is concerned, nothing remains to be recovered at his instance. Further all the witnesses are police witnesses also, therefore, there is no possibility of threatening th witness also.

In above facts and circumstances, such present accused is granted bail subject to furnishing of personal bond in the sum of Rs. 10,000/- with two sound sureties of like amount, subject to the satisfaction of the learned Trial court and the following additional conditions:

- i) Applicant shall not flee from the justice;*
- ii) Applicant shall not tamper with the evidence;*
- iii) Applicant shall not threaten or contact in any manner to the prosecution witnesses ,*
- iv) Applicant shall not leave country without permission;*
- v) Applicant shall convey any change of address immediately to the IO and the court;*
- vi) Applicants shall also provide his/her mobile number to the IO;*
- vii) Applicant shall mark his /her attendance before concerned IO (and if IO is not available*

then to concerned SHO) every alternative /second day through mobile by sharing his/her location with the SHO concerned till the chargesheet is filed; viii) Applicant shall further make a call, preferably by audio plus video mode to concerned IO, (and if IO is not available then to concerned SHO) once a week, preferably on Monday between 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. till the chargesheet is filed.

ix) Applicant shall keep his / her such mobile number 'Switched On' at all the time , particularly between 8 am to 8 pm everyday till the chargesheet is filed

x) That he / she will cooperate with the investigation / IO / SHO concerned and will appear before IO / Trial Court as and when called as per law.

xi) He will not indulge in any kind of activities which are alleged against him / her in the present case.

It is clarified that in case if the applicant/ accused is found to be violating any of the above conditions, the same shall be a ground for cancellation of bail and the State shall be at liberty to move an application for cancellation of bail.

I may observe that certain guidelines had been laid down by the Hon'ble Delhi High Court in the case of “Ajay Verma Vs. Government of NCT of Delhi” WP (C) 10689/2017 dated 08.03.2018 wherein it was observed and I quote as under:

“..... The trial courts should not only be sensitive but extremely vigilant in cases where they are recording orders of bail to ascertain the compliance thereof.....When bail is granted, an endorsement shall be made on the custody warrant of the prisoner, indicating that bail has been granted, along with the date of the order of bail.

- a) In case of inability of a prisoner to seek release despite an order of bail, it is the judicial duty of the trial courts to undertake a review for the reasons thereof.
- b) Every bail order shall be marked on the file.
- c) It shall be the responsibility of every judge issuing an order of bail to monitor its execution and enforcement.
- d) In case a judge stands transferred before the execution, it shall be the responsibility of the successor judge to ensure execution.....”

I note that in the present case the bail bonds have been directed to be furnished before the Ld. Trial Court/ Ld. MM and hence in terms of the above observations, the Ld. MM is impressed upon to inform this court about the following:

1. The date on which conditions imposed by this court are satisfied;
2. The date of release of prisoner from jail;
3. Date of ultimate release of prisoner in case the prisoner is in jail in some other case.

The copy of this order be sent to Ld. MM and also to the Superintendent Jail who shall also inform this court about all the three aspects as contained in the para herein above. The Superintendent Jail is also directed to inform this court if the prisoner is willingly not furnishing the personal bond or in case if he is unable to furnish the surety or any other reason given by the prisoner for not filing the bonds. One copy of this order be also sent to the SHO Concerned to ensure compliance.

The observations made in the present application are for the purpose of deciding of present application and do not affect the factual matrix of the investigation of the present case which is separate issue as per law.

The bail application is accordingly disposed off.

Learned counsel for applicant is at liberty to obtain order through electronic mode. Copy of order be also sent to Jail Superintendent concerned through electronic mode.

Vide this order, the bail application under section 439 Cr.P.C. on behalf of accused dated 28.10.2020 filed through counsel is disposed of.

I have heard both the sides and have gone through the record.

The personal liberty is a priceless treasure for a human being. It is founded on the bed rock of constitutional right and accentuated further on human rights principle. But detailed reasons touching the merit of the matter should not be given which may prejudice the accused. What is necessary is that the order should not suffer from non-application of mind. Though the court can make some reference to materials but it cannot make a detailed and in-depth analysis of the materials and record findings on their acceptability or otherwise which is essentially a matter of trial. Court is not required to undertake meticulous examination of evidence while granting or refusing bail u/s 439 of the CrPC.

In the present case, it is argued on behalf of the accused that present applicant is victim of false implication because of nexus between the IO and the complainant. It is further pointed out that earlier previous IO namely HC Satya Narain and the advocate who was earlier representing the accused, have been arrested by CBI anti-corruption branch. That such applicant filed anticipatory bail application and the same was dismissed by Bail Roster Sessions Judge on 20.03.2020. Thereafter, present accused approached Hon'ble High Court for anticipatory bail but Hon'ble High Court pleased to grant interim bail only. Same was extended from time to time. Later on, same was dismissed as withdrawn vide order dated 30.07.2020. It is further claimed that entire case property i.e. gold articles belongs to the mother of the accused. Same were kept with the wife of the complainant after the death of mother of the accused. It is further pointed out that in the month of October, 2019, there was some dispute between the complainant and the accused regarding purchase of a mobile phone and as such accused took back entire jewellery from the wife of the complainant. That during his interim bail, accused fully cooperated with the investigation. That he is in JC since 27.08.2020. That he has roots in the society. No purpose would be served by keeping him in JC. It is further argued by learned counsel for accused that arguments addressed by IO during the course of arguments were not raised earlier in any of the reply to the bail application filed so far by the present accused before the present bail application. It is further argued that chargesheet is already filed. As such, now there is no threat to the witness any more. As such, it is prayed that he be granted regular bail.

On the other hand, a detailed reply is filed by IO as also argued by learned Addl. PP for the state, it is argued that a social/financial status of the accused do not match with his claim that recovered gold articles/jewellery belonged to the accused. In fact, only a part of such jewellery is recovered so far. It is further stated that such accused even pledged such jewellery with Gold Finance company from where part of such jewellery is recovered. As such, it is claimed that documentary proof also regarding involvement of present accused in the present case. It is further argued that present accused was very well known to the complainant side and taking advantage of the same in a well planned manner, he committed the offence in question.

Similarly, learned counsel for complainant opposed the present bail application vehemently.

I find force in the arguments of learned Addl.PP for the state. The offence under Section 454 IPC is punishable upto ten years. Further, although chargesheet is already filed but having regard to the fact that complainant/public witness are known to the accused, the nature of incriminating material against him, including the documentary evidence and the manner in which such crime is committed by the present accused, this court is not inclined to grant regular bail to the present accused at present. With these observations, present regular bail application is dismissed.

The observations made in the present application are for the purpose of deciding of present applicant and do not affect the factual matrix of the investigation of the present case which is separate issue as per law.

Learned counsel for the applicant / accused is at liberty to collect the order through electronic mode. Copy of this order be also sent to Jail Superintendent concerned through electronic mode.

That complainant already got dishonoured the cheques of the accused/applicant and still complainant lodged the present FIR and quite surprisingly the concerned police official acted very promptly to register the same. That in connivance of local police the complainant is harassing the present accused. That there is no question of tampering with the evidence or threatening the witness. That there is no previous criminal record of present accused. That he apprehends his arrest in present case.

It is further stated that at best the dispute between the parties is of civil nature. That accused is running a shop by the name of Om Bhature in Karol Bagh area and has roots in the society and as such, there is no question of accused flee from justice.

3. On the other hand, it is argued by the complainant that accused side is presenting misleading facts. That not only the complainant but as many as thirty other people are cheated by the present accused and his brother. That they are not cooperating or joining the investigation. In fact they are not living in the address given in the application. It is further stated that just because a civil dispute or a cheque bounce matter is pending does not mean that there is a bar to take action under the provision of IPC. It is further stated that in the FIR it is fairly disclosed all the facts. It is further stated that in the income tax return of the complainant he has duly disclosed such income. It is further stated that there is proof including in the form of whatsapp regarding such offence by the accused person. As such, present bail application is strongly opposed.

4. In reply dated 26.10.2020 filed by IO Mohit Asiwali as also argued by learned APP for the state, it is stated that accused and his family is running a Chhole Bhature shop under the name of Om Corner in Karol Bagh and known to the complainant for the last thirty years. That cheque given by accused side towards repayment of amount already got dishonoured. That accused and his brother has stopped communication with the complainant. That accused has dishonest intention since beginning having regard to the manner in which money was obtained and receipts were executed on different occasions with assurance to return. It is further stated that since registration of this complainant has not been interrogated because he was outside India and then in quarantine period. The IO is yet to obtain original promissory note and receipt issued allegedly to the complainant. As such, present anticipatory bail application is opposed.

4. I have heard both the sides and gone through the record.

5. The offences which are alleged against the accused persons are punishable upto seven years. There are certain directions by Hon'ble

Supreme Court including in the case of Arnesh Kumar for such offences punishable upto seven years. As such, the accused/applicant is directed to join investigation as and when so directed by the IO/SHO including on 04.11.2020 at 2 pm and cooperate in the same fully. Subject to such compliance, IO is directed not to take any coercive action against the present applicant/accused till next date of hearing only.

Put up for 10.11.2020 for further arguments and orders.

IO is also directed to appear with case file through VC on next date of hearing.

Copy of this order be given to both sides including the complainant through electronic mode.
